

6. On or about March 18, 2009, Respondent entered a plea of Guilty to ASSAULT CAUSES BODILY INJURY FAMILY MEMBER (a Class A Misdemeanor offense committed on February 9, 2009), in the County Court of Wharton, Texas, under Cause No. CR-56282. As a result, the proceedings against Respondent were deferred without entering an adjudication of guilt, and Respondent was placed on probation for a period of one (1) year and was ordered to pay court costs.
7. In response to Finding of Fact Number Six (6), Respondent states: To the best of her knowledge, she was at her mother's house with her children and an argument began between her sister and daughter. Respondent stood between the two of them to stop the argument. She states "I did not, nor do I recall my daughter hitting my mother, if she was struck it was only by accident."
8. On August 3, 2009, Respondent underwent forensic psychological evaluation with Dr. Hay's. Dr. Hay's summary is that Ms. Moreno acknowledged difficulties in her life, including having been "given away" by her mother and raised by her grandmother, marriages which did not work out, and being involved with men who were substance abusers. She acknowledged having to work many long hours at times, which led to her mother taking her children to live with her. On one occasion when she went to see the children she acknowledged getting into an argument but by her report, did not intentionally engage in a physical fight. She acknowledged to the examiners that her family relationships are not the best, and that a call to the Police resulted in her arrest, when she did not intend to hurt anyone.

The evaluation did not suggest current problems with substance abuse, anger management, or any personality characteristics that would suggest she is not capable of functioning as a nurse. Based on all the data obtained, it is Dr. Hay's opinion that Ms. Moreno is capable of avoiding behaviors that constitute unprofessional conduct in her work as a nurse.
